Dear Bill:

Next Wednesday, 16 June, at 1400 hours, you and I have been invited by the Joint Chiefs of Staff to present our view of the threat to Honduras.

25X1

I have tasked my analysts to prepare a threat briefing and to coordinate with your DDI analysts. I think it would be beneficial to have both a DIA and CIA analyst present next Wednesday to answer questions.

I have tasked my people to develop some proposals. Their initial efforts have been conveyed to your representative on the Central American Intelligence Enhancement Working Group. I have made some modifications and the new presentation is included with this letter. Briefly, my proposals include:

As you can see from this brief outline, we may be at odds in some of our thinking. I am firmly convinced the solution to the Honduran dilemma lies in a military exchange. The Honduran communication/ultimatum was made through military channels. The primary request of the Hondurans is for military order of battle information. It follows in my mind that the response should be military to military.

Our differences notwithstanding, I am sure we both are in agreement some overture to the Hondurans must be made quickly. I am sure that we will be able to arrive at a mutually acceptable solution to the problems.

Sincerely,

JAMES A. WILLIAMS
